Chair Rails are very versatile in its usage. It can be used to decorate your ceilings to form outlines on a bare ceiling or it be used as railings for your walls especially to outline two sets of different wallpaper designs. It can also be assembled to transform as mirror or picture frames. Gaudi mouldings offer a wide selection in this respect in relation to substitutes like wood. Some of the mouldings are also available in different standard lengths simultaneously (2 metre, 8 feet, 14 feet) for greater flexibility.

Traditionally, ceiling roses are used as a decorative piece on the ceilings to add grandeur to the chandeliers. Today, some designers are using it as an ornament for the ceilings and walls. Gaudi's ceiling roses offers the flexibility of having them coloured in our standard colours for an artistic outlook. Alternatively, it may be possible to request these to be specially coloured to your perfection at an additional cost by our artists.

The Gaudi Decor Collection provides a cheaper alternative to wood. They are much lighter and easier to install. They can be carved into more intricate designs with sharper reliefs.

The corbels are normally applied to further enhance the columns and ceiling areas. Today, some furniture designers are using these corbels as furniture parts as part of the ornaments. The corbels are also very versatile as it can be finished to the outlook required like wood, marble and granite finish.

It is also possible to use the corbels as shelving stands or supports.

These mouldings are used as architraves for the doors. It exudes a classic elegance to the doors. Gaudi mouldings provide flexibility to mix and match to your desired preferences.

Raised panels can also be applied to provide further outline relief to a bare door. It's so easy. Just glue or nail the raised panels to your bare door and it transforms the door to that of a moulded carved door.

The short columns are designed more for decorative purposes as stands or table supports if conditions allow. However, with the right combination of decorative ornaments like a vase of flowers, they make good display ornament choices. The short columns can be coloured to provide further effect.

All columns are normally sold as per whole piece length. If a desired length is preferred, it may be requested subject to terms and conditions.
